Event Description

This year the TEDx team of SIESGST held a virtual event for the very first time in the history of SIESGST. The event consisted of 8 speakers and 3 performers from various walks of life. The entire event was premiered live on the official YouTube channel of SIESGST and the event could be viewed by anyone who wishes to. The event kicked off with Harsh Agrawal (member of the core team) welcoming the audience and introducing our very first speaker Rahul Bhatnagar who inspired and motivated the audience with his work ethics and encouraged us to do the same. He was followed by Prof Urmi Chakravorty who discussed about various impacts on the education sector due to the ongoing pandemic and how online education has become a new normal in this world. To light up the event we received a beautiful singing performance by Shubham J who delivered his self-composed song. He was followed by the very talented Shri Mahesh Kale who described the inner meaning of classical musing and how it appeals to humanity and showed us how he kept the spirit of music alive through his online teachings. He was followed by Mr Navin Karma Yogi, a man of principles who had an interesting approach towards our theme which was to stick to our basics instead of trying to do something very different and stick to the 3 important principles of life. His talk was followed by a mesmerizing classical dance performance of Ms Simran Sivakumar who enacted a folk tale in form of a dance. She was followed by Ms Rasika Karkare who addressed the most important yet the most ignored issue of our society which is mental health. She was followed by Dr Siddhart Warrier who beautifully conveyed how any amount of knowledge never goes waste and also explained the audience the neuro science behind learning. He was followed by Mr Mahesh Raghavan who mesmerized the audience with his performance which was a fusion of classical and western music. He was followed Lush Monsoon, who is a drag performer inspired the audience to practice whatever they love the most irrespective of how hard it is to achieve the same. Finally we had the last speaker of our session, Mr Kashyap Kompella who delivered the concepts of Artificial Intelligence in the most simple and imaginative way. The session was concluded by the organizer of TEDx SIESGT Srinivas Somal by thanking the speakers and the audience for their active participation.
